Excerpt: .as I understood, and as I still believe, of great merit. What little expencce in the way of charity, I am able to afford, I am best pleased to dedicate to the education of the children of poor but honest persons; and I most generally bring them up to the service of the navy. I had at that time two boys at school, whom I thought of an age fit to be put to sea. I desired lady Townshend to prevail upon captain Manby to take them. He consented to it, and of course I was obliged to him. About this time, or shortly afterwards, he was appointed to the Africaine, a ship which was fitting up at Deptford. To be near his ship, as I understood and believe, he took lodgings at Blackheath; and as to the mere fact of his being so frequently at my house, his intimacy and friendship with lord and lady Townshend, which of itself was assurance to me of his respectability and character; my pleasure in shewing my respect to them by notice ind attention to a friend of theirs; his undertaking the care of my charity boys, and his accidental residence at Blackheath, will, I should trust, not unreasonably account for it. I have a similar account likewise to give of paying for the linen furniture with which his cabin was furnished. Wishing to make him some return for his trouble with the boys, I desired that I...
